

HOW INTER JOB CONNECT USES COOKIES

Effective 7 April 2020

In order to provide personalized and appropriate services through our website, Inter Job Connect uses so-called cookies. Cookies are small text files that send information from a website you visit to your browser and save it. With each subsequent visit, your web browser sends these cookies back to our website, which helps the site to recognize them and stores information about your user settings (hits, clicks, Google history). The use of cookies is very limited and is only used for technical purposes e.g. the improvement and personalization of the functionality on our website. The information collected through the use of cookies cannot be assigned to a specific person. By visiting our website and registering our services, you accept the use of cookies. If you do not agree to the use of cookies, you can delete or block them, but keep in mind that this will give you restricted access to our website and the services provided there.

We use the following cookies:

- Necessary cookies – they are necessary for the proper operation of our website and the services offered. Thanks to them, we can show you, for example Information on our website in the right language.
- Functional cookies – enable us to adapt our services and information on our website to the interests of our visitors and users. This information is completely anonymous and is used for very limited purposes are stored for a limited period of time.
- Analytics cookies – We use analytics tools, which allow us to easily find out how many visits we have to our website, whether our visitors are interested in the content published by us, which page they viewed and whether they visited them via a mobile or a desktop device. These data are used exclusively and for statistical purposes only and are not used for personal identification. The analytics tools are provided and stored by Google Analytics. The information collected is not linked to other information.

Dealing with cookies:

You can control and manage cookies in your browser in various ways. However, please note that when you delete the cookies, you also delete all of the settings you have saved.

Inter Job Connect Ltd. may change or supplement the cookie policy at any time and at its own discretion. If these conditions change, we will announce the date of the change. This change will take effect in relation to your data after the change date or from another date that is expressly stated at a later date.